Orca Board Books

Early One Morning ©21

by Lawrence Schimel • Orca Book Publishers

A young boy is awake before his moms and sister. It's too early to make a sound...but what's that noise?! Two rumbling tummies need to be fed! Letting themselves into the kitchen, the boy and his cat finish their breakfast just in time to say "Good morning" when the rest of the family wakes up. The cadence of this adorable rhyming board book will delight readers young and old.

978-1-4598-2670-0
6" x 6" • 16 pages • $10.95 $8.76

Orca Board Books

My Heart Beats ©21

by Rina Singh • Orca Book Publishers

A beautiful photographic board book featuring babies from all over the world and the sounds their hearts make as they beat with love.

978-1-4598-2568-0
7" x 7" • 22 pages • $10.95 $8.76

Orca Board Books

The Sun is a Shine ©21

by Leslie A. Davidson • Orca Book Publishers

A gentle and poetic board book about weather systems across the world. Young readers will enjoy meeting children from around the globe and experiencing the phenomena of the sky as each child thanks Mother Earth for bringing the sun, wind, rain, snow, lightning and thunder to them.

978-1-4598-2626-7
7" x 7" • 20 pages • $10.95 $8.76

Orca Board Books

What Do You See? ©21

by Sarah N. Harvey • Orca Book Publishers

This beautifully illustrated board book celebrates the point of view of children who are too small to tell you what they see but not too small to experience the joy of small things. Young readers will take pleasure in finding all the objects the baby sees, and adults will enjoy the depiction of how a child's world expands.

978-1-4598-2088-3
7" x 7" • 22 pages • $10.95 $8.76

Sleeping Bear Board Books

Catch a Kiss ©21

by Deborah Diesen • Sleeping Bear Press

Izzie just loves when her mama blows her kisses to catch. When Izzie misses a kiss her heart sinks as she watches it zip higher and higher into the sky. Mama lets Izzie in on a sweet secret and she realizes that her mama's love will always come to find her, no matter what! This silly and tender story is a universal one of a parent's love.

978-1-53411-154-7
6" x 6" • 16 pages • $13.50 $10.80

Sleeping Bear Board Books

A Horse Named Jack ©21

by Linda Vander Heyden • Sleeping Bear Press

Jack is a rather silly horse. And when bored, he takes it upon himself to unlatch his stall and go for an adventure through the farm before escaping into the neighbour's garden for a snack. This rhyming story counts up to ten as Jack makes his way across the farm and then back down as he races home with the neighbour hot on his heels.

978-1-53411-155-4
6" x 6" • 16 pages • $13.50 $10.80

All I Want Is an Octopus ©21

by Tracy Gunaratnam

An octopus seems like the perfect pet, but Dad and Mom will need convincing. Luckily, Gran seems to be on the same wave-length!

The Color Collector ©21

by Nicholas Solis

The Color Collector is a poignant story about newness, friendship, and common ground. When a boy notices the new girl picking up all manner of debris and litter on their walks home from school he wants to know why. So she shows him the huge mural she's created in her room that reminds her of the home she left behind. He learns all about where she's come from and they both find how wonderful it is to make a new friend.

Come, Read With Me ©21 🍁

by Margriet Ruurs

Join two young children as they begin an adventure through a world of books in this story-within-a-bedtime-story. This metered read-aloud pays homage to classic children's literature: readers of all ages will love searching for characters they recognize from fairy tales and beloved picture books amongst the pages. Spiders weave words and mythical dragons soar as the children travel through magical lands guided by the rhythm and rhyme of acclaimed author Margriet Ruurs. Little ones will want to cuddle closer and settle in for a delightful journey before heading off to sleep themselves.

"A book that parents, primary teachers and librarians can use to introduce a discussion of the world of children's books. [Children] will enjoy the game of identifying the literary references hidden in the lines."—CM: Canadian Review of Materials

Don't Call Me Fuzzybutt! ©21

by Robin Newman

Bear is tired. The weather is getting cool and he's ready for a nice long nap—he's got earmuffs and a brand-new door to keep out the noise, plus a pair of fluffy slippers. Meanwhile, real estate mogul Woodpecker finds his recent home is missing. And he follows the trail of debris right to Bear's new front door. When he "tap tap taps" to talk to Bear about it, the two engage in a feisty exchange of name-calling and gossip with the rest of their forest neighbours. Can they patch it up—literally—before Bear loses too much sleep?

Elephants Do Not Belong in Trees ©20 🍀

by Russ Willms

This is the story of Larry, an elephant who wanted to live in a tree. This is a story about being the new kid and being a little bit different (okay, A LOT different). A story about acceptance and making friends. When Larry decides he wants to live in the big bushy tree in the middle of the wide-open field, the current residents, Bird, Squirrel and Monkey, are not very welcoming. They throw nuts at him and peck at his head; they tell him to leave and are downright rude. But Larry persists-why can't he live in the tree? When his new home is threatened by something much bigger than all the animals combined, Larry shows everyone that he cares just as much about the tree as they do.

"A giggle-inducing story about acceptance and turning the tables on expectations... Wry humor with a bouncy beat: a treat for storytimes."—Kirkus Reviews

Just Be Claus ©21

by Barbara Joosse

Even as a baby, sweet little Claus seemed different. He didn't cry like the other babies and with his rosy cheeks and round little belly, he was a jolly soul. But as Claus grows, the little boy worries that he is different from other kids: he has a loud hearty laugh, he likes to wear red all the time, and his favourite hangout is the workshop with his grandmother. When Claus confides to Grannie that he'd rather be more like the other kids, she tells him his differences make him special. Claus is sure Grannie is wrong. But then a snowstorm threatens to ruin Christmas. Can Claus figure out a way to use what makes him special to help save the holiday?

Mr. Green Grows a Garden ©21

by Ruth Owen

In the middle of the big city, there was a tired, ugly place that made Mr. Green feel very sad. So begins this uplifting and charming story of the magic that can happen when young people, older people, and plants come together. Mr. Green and his friend Mo turn an abandoned, forlorn space into a garden for their community in this inspirational story. The story explores the importance of planting trees and creating places for wildlife, rebuilding ecosystems, embracing intergenerational friendships, and how discovering nature and being outdoors is good for our mental health. The story is told with beautiful artwork created from collage and pencil drawings.

Nye, Sand and Stones ©21 🍁

by Bree Galbraith

Somewhere off the coast and around the corner there are two islands. One island is made mostly of stones and the other mainly of sand, and that's where the problem began. Young Nye doesn't understand why the people on her Island of Sand work so hard to build beautiful sandcastles every day if they are destined to be ruined by the stones catapulted over by the people of the Island of Stones every evening. When she asks "Why?" all she ever hears in response is "Because". As years go by, Nye realizes that the "Because" is starting to make sense to her and this makes her angry. And an angry Nye decides to take action. Through this story about injustice and challenging the status quo, readers will be inspired to think deeply about why and how we can bring about change in the world.

Rissy No Kissies ©21

by Katey Howes

A lovebird who doesn't like kisses? Rissy's friends and family wonder if she's sick, confused, or rude. But kisses make Rissy uncomfortable. Can one little lovebird show everyone that there's no one right way to show you care? Rissy No Kissies carries the message that "your body and your heart are yours, and you choose how to share." A note at the end provides further information for kids, parents, and educators about body autonomy, consent, and different ways to show affection.

"This is an artistic gem for consent discussions, sensory-processing contexts, and anyone who champions children's agency and bodily autonomy. Radiant."—Kirkus Reviews, Starred Review

Rock and Vole ©21

by Jennifer Sattler

Little Vole has the same routine, day in and day out. But one day Vole wakes up and wants something different. She wants an adventure—a trip! Vole sets out on her perfectly planned adventure and things are going well. But sometimes perfectly planned adventures don't go perfectly. Unexpectedly, Vole comes to a ginormous, selfish, refuses-to-move rock that is blocking her way to her lovely adventure. How unfair! But is it? Maybe life can be better when some things don't go according to plan.

Stompin' at the Savoy: How Chick Webb Became the King of Drums ©21

by Moira Rose Donohue

Though a disability stunted his growth and left him with a hunched back, William Henry "Chick" Webb did not let that get in the way of his musical pursuits. Even as a young child, Chick saw the world as one big drum, pounding out rhythms on everything from stair railings to pots and pans. His love of percussion brought him to the big time as an influential big band leader. This picture-book biography details the life of black American jazz drummer Chick Webb, who in the 1930s led one of the big bands of the swing era, earning him the nickname the "King of the Savoy."

We Want Snow: A Wintry Chant ©21

by Jamie A. Swenson

In this raucous, rhyming plea for snow, a group of youngsters imagines the cold-weather delights they'll enjoy once winter arrives. From sledding down hills and skating on ponds to building snow forts and snowmen to sharing crackling fires and mugs of hot cocoa, they want snow and plenty of it! The snow can't arrive soon enough. But once the flakes start to fall, are the youngsters in for more than they bargained for? Readers young and old will enjoy this celebration of winter's snowy activities, recalling past pleasures and imagining future ones.

"Though the meter isn't consistent, the repeated chorus is catchy, and everyone reading this will recognize kids' fickle attitudes toward the weather and seasons."

Where's My Cow? ©21

by Susan Blackaby

In a pasture near the sea, a flock of egrets lives in peaceful companionship with a herd of cows. Each day the flock flies out to explore the nearby marsh and seashore. Well, the flock minus one. One young egret always stays behind, longing to go but afraid to venture out. He fears to leave his dear friend Cow. Egret imagines the worst. What if I get lost and can't find Cow again? But Cow is worldly; she's been places and knows there are wonderful sights to be seen and enjoyed. She is determined that her feathered friend will visit the seashore like the others. So together bird and bovine scheme up ways to make sure Egret gets safely back to Cow. This warm and witty story about adventure and friendship is the perfect book for any young reader facing separation anxiety or new-experience jitters.

Spotting Differences (Blastoff! Readers: Level 1)

The animal kingdom is full of look-alikes! Young readers will dig into physical and behavioural traits of each animal to spot the differences between each pair. Full spread side-by-side comparisons point out special characteristics of each animal, while labelled photos and picture glossaries visually define difficult vocab words within the low-level text. Beginning readers will be able to tell these doppelgängers apart in no time!

Growing Up Elizabeth May: The Making of an Activist ©21 🍁

by Sylvia Olsen

Before most people had thought about pollution, Elizabeth May was an anti-pollution activist. Before most people had heard about environmentalism, she was an environmentalist. As a young girl, Elizabeth was worried about the health of the planet. She believed it was her job to protect it. "I have to do something" became the principle she lived by. Growing Up Elizabeth May: The Making of an Activist tells the story of Elizabeth's life and what motivated her to take action for the environment. Co-written by Elizabeth's daughter Cate, this book is full of quotes, art and poetry from young activists as well as tips for making change in your own community. Part biography and part blueprint for activists in the making, this book shows how Elizabeth continues to inspire young people today to stand up for the planet.

"Regardless of their current interest in social causes, readers will be inspired by the story of Elizabeth May, the youth who are currently taking action to support causes important to them, and how easy it can be to make a real difference. Highly Recommended."—CM: Canadian Review of Materials

Headstrong Hallie!: The story of Hallie Morse Daggett, the First Female "Fire Guard" ©21

by Aimee Bissonette

Hallie Morse Daggett wanted to devote her life to protecting her beloved outdoors and decided she would work for the US Forest Service. But in the 1880s the Forest Service didn't hire women, thinking they couldn't handle the physical challenges of the work or the isolation. But the Forest Service didn't know Hallie or how determined she could be. This picture-book biography tells the story of Hallie Morse Daggett, the first woman "fire guard" hired by the US Forest Service, whose hard work and dedication led the way for other women to join the Forest Service.

June Almeida, Virus Detective!: The Woman Who Discovered the First Human Coronavirus ©21

by Suzanne Slade

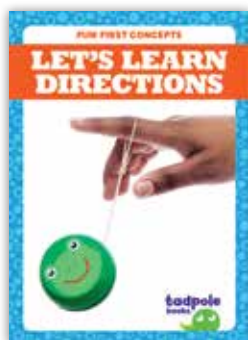

From an early age in Glasgow, Scotland, June Almeida loved learning about science and nature. She dreamed of attending university but economic hardships caused her to leave school at age 16. Still, June was determined to pursue her passion for science. She was hired by a local hospital to work in its lab, using a microscope to magnify and examine cells. June later worked in labs in London and in Toronto. Her skill in using the electron microscope to examine cells and help identify viruses earned her promotion and respect. At 34 years old, June discovered the first human coronavirus. Her groundbreaking work continues to help researchers today in the fight against illnesses caused by viruses, including COVID-19.

Making Sense of Climate Change: Know Your Facts, Understand the Science, What Can We Do? ©21

by Alex Standish

There's no Planet B. Climate change is happening, and no one is more ready to tackle this issue than kids. In recent times, discussion of climate change and its effects has begun to cause fear and anxiety in many young people. This new book-produced with assistance from the Royal Geographical Society of the UK-gives an evidence-based, informative, and calm overview of what's happened in Earth's past. This book also examines what's happening now, what could happen in the future, and what kids, adults, and governments worldwide can do to help protect our planet. Plenty of science mixed with practical tips will help everyone make sense of climate change.

Ocean Soup: A Recipe for You, Me, and a Cleaner Sea ©21

by Meeg Pincus

From the shore, the ocean looks like clear, sparkling blue but look closely at a small scoop and you'll find the ocean looks more like soup! Our oceans are filled with plastics, from water bottles and take-out containers to the teeny tiny plastic particles you need a microscope to see. But who exactly cooked up this stinky soup? And, more importantly, what is the recipe for getting (and keeping) our oceans clean? This bouncing, rhyming story pulls no punches about how we ended up in this sticky mess but also offers hope and help for cleaning up this ocean soup.

Saguaro's Gifts ©21
by Kurt Cyrus

Celebrating a birthday is always a happy occasion but never more so in this desert community than when it's a centenary for a grand Saguaro cactus! For one hundred years, the majestic cactus has anchored this vibrant neighbourhood, providing food, shelter, and shade to the local wildlife inhabitants. In beautiful rhyming text, the creatures that depend on Saguaro's gifts come to pay homage, including the tiny bat that sips nectar from the plant's flower, the finches looking for a place to build their nest, and the grateful tortoise that enjoys its fruit. Readers young and old will appreciate this timely message of how essential even an old cactus is to our environment and the world we all share.

What's Up with Water? (Bearcub Books)

Every living thing on Earth needs water to survive. But why do we need it, where does it come from, and how do we save it? This valuable series answers these questions and more while introducing early science concepts to emergent readers. Vibrant photographs and diagrams will aid readers in learning about the water cycle, how people use water, and what that means for the environment.

The Ghouls' Guide to Good Grammar ©21

by Leslie Kimmelman

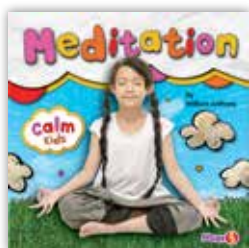

Grammar can be confusing, no matter if you're an adult, a child, or well . . . even a ghou. And its rules can be hard to remember or keep straight. Ghastly things can happen when a comma or even a simple period is misplaced. But never fear! We have the perfect book to help you keep your head and your cool. In The Ghouls' Guide to Good Grammar basic rules of grammar such as correct punctuation and appropriate word choices are explained from a monster's point of view. For anyone needing a refresher course on how to use a hyphen or an apostrophe, or is confused by pesky contractions, The Ghouls' Guide to Good Grammar is for you.

"The power of grammar and spelling to turn loved ones into meals conveys the importance of detail in proper writing; the playful touches of the ghou theme make these rules more memorable than the standard textbook guide can."—Kirkus Reviews

Classified: The Secret Career of Mary Golda Ross, Cherokee Aerospace Engineer ©21

by Traci Sorell

Cherokee author Traci Sorell and Métis illustrator Natasha Donovan trace Ross's journey from being the only girl in a high school math class to becoming a teacher to pursuing an engineering degree, joining the top-secret Skunk Works division of Lockheed, and being a mentor for Native Americans and young women interested in engineering. In addition, the narrative highlights Cherokee values including education, working cooperatively, remaining humble, and helping ensure equal opportunity and education for all.

"A stellar addition to the genre that will launch careers and inspire for generations, it deserves space alongside stories of other world leaders and innovators."—Starred Review, Kirkus Reviews

Design Like Nature:
Biomimicry for a Healthy Planet ©21

(from the Orca Footprints series)

by Megan Clendenan

Did you know that lamps can be powered by glowing bacteria instead of electricity? That gloves designed like gecko feet let people climb straight up glass walls? Or that kids are finding ways to make compostable plastic out of banana peels? Biomimicry, the scientific term for when we learn from and copy nature, is a revolutionary way to look to nature for answers to environmental problems such as climate change. In Design Like Nature young readers discover innovations and inventions inspired by the environment.

"Fascinating... An appealing resource sure to spark an interest in biomimicry, from casual readers to budding scientists. Recommended for all libraries."—School Library Journal, Starred Review

Jack Horner: Dinosaur Hunter ©21

by Sophia Gholz

When Jack Horner was a child, nothing fascinated him more than fossils. Dinosaur fossils to be exact. He hunted for them at every chance he got and dreamed of being a great paleontologist. But school was hard, reading was even harder, and he struggled to succeed like the other kids in his classes. Jack persevered, finding his own way to success, until he became one of the world's most famous paleontologist, immortalized in Hollywood movies and known as Jack Horner: Dinosaur Hunter!

Let's Pop, Pop, Popcorn! ©21

by Cynthia Schumerth

Told through exuberant rhyme, a group of children shows the step-by-step process of how America's favourite snack comes about. Beginning with the planting of seeds, the cycle moves through the caretaking of the plant (watering and weeding), all the way to its harvest. Finally, it's time to shuck, then pop the kernels, and enjoy the finished product! Complete with back matter that includes scientific facts and activities, Let's Pop, Pop, Popcorn! offers a fun introduction to the process of creating popcorn.

The Disability Experience: Working Toward Belonging ©21 🍁

(from the Orca Issues series)

by Hannalora Leavitt

People with disabilities (PWDs) have the same aspirations for their lives as you do for yours. The difference is that PWDs don't have the same access to education, employment, housing, transportation and healthcare in order to achieve their goals. In The Disability Experience you'll meet people with different kinds of disabilities, and you'll begin to understand the ways PWDs have been ignored, reviled and marginalized throughout history. The book also celebrates the triumphs and achievements of PWDs and shares the powerful stories of those who have fought for change.'

"An engaging, conversational writing style...The Disability Experience does an excellent job of explaining the disability experience and should be required reading for all teens (and adults, too). Highly Recommended."—CM Magazine: Canadian Review of Materials

Take Shelter: At Home Around the World ©21 🍁

(from the Orca Footprints series)

by Nikki Tate

A roof, a door, some windows, a floor. All houses have them, but not all houses are alike. Some have wings (airplane homes), some have wheels (Romany vardoes), some float; some are made of straw, some of snow and ice. Some are enormous, some are tiny; some are permanent and some are temporary. But all are home. Take Shelter explores the ways people live all over the world and beyond—from the Arctic to the Antarctic, from an underground house in Las Vegas to the International Space Station. Everywhere people live, they adapt to their surroundings and create unique environments, using innovative techniques to provide that most basic of needs: shelter.

"A perfect resource for any student learning about homes around the world. The text is both interesting and well-researched. . . Every school library will want this informative book. Highly Recommended."—CM Magazine: Canadian Review of Materials

The Floating Field: How a Group of Thai Boys Built Their Own Soccer Field ©21

by Scott Riley

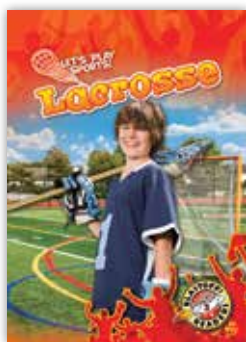

After watching the World Cup on television, a group of Thai boys is inspired to form their own team. But on the island of Koh Panyee, in a village built on stilts, there is no open space. The boys can play only twice a month on a sandbar when the tide is low enough. Everything changes when the teens join together to build their very own floating soccer field.

Being Black in America

Frustrated. Fearful. Angry. Weary. These are some of the words African Americans have used to describe their feelings about being Black in America in 2020. Coupled with a pandemic that has disproportionately affected people of colour, police killings of Black men and women have heaped outrage on top of hurt. The Being Black in America series explores the events, the emotions, and the experiences that have forced a collective reckoning on race and racial injustice. Personal accounts and thoughtful narrative add context and depth to these volumes.

Collateral Damage: The Mental Health Effects of the Pandemic ©22

by Carla Mooney

As the coronavirus pandemic spread worldwide in 2020 and 2021, countries implemented various public health measures to slow the spread of the highly contagious virus. While these measures may have helped lessen infections, mental health experts warned of another looming crisis – the pandemic's mental health fallout. Throughout the pandemic, people have struggled with isolation, loss of income, grief, and fear, all of which have harmed mental health.

COVID-19 and Other Pandemics: A Comparison ©21

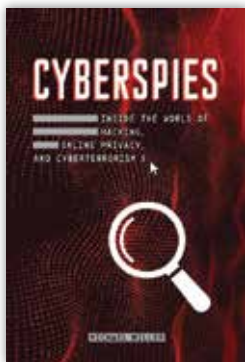

by Don Nardo

For most people today, the death and destruction brought about by the COVID-19 pandemic is unprecedented. But a look at the historical record tells a different story. Catastrophic pandemics have occurred throughout history – and many have resulted in economic, political, and cultural upheaval. This book examines pandemics through history and the changes they brought.

Historic Pandemics and Plagues

The COVID-19 pandemic is not the first and, according to experts, will not be the last such disease to spread illness and death and upend life around the globe. Humanity has endured pandemics and plagues all through history. While each of these events presented unique challenges for the time in which they occurred, the difficulties, the pain and suffering, and even some of the triumphs will resonate today.

Hothouse Earth: The Climate Crisis and the Importance of Carbon Neutrality ©21

by Stephanie Sammartino McPherson

As hurricanes, droughts, floods, and wildfires are increasing in regularity and intensity, climate change can no longer be ignored. Melting permafrost, forest dieback, ocean acidification, and other processes are creating positive feedback loops which could, if not aggressively and quickly addressed, spiral out of control and take global warming past the point of no return. Hothouse Earth examines how science, politics, and social justice must all be part of the equation to counteract climate change.

Joe Biden: 46th US President ©21

by Stephen Currie

Joe Biden became the 46th US president in January 2021. In a long political career as senator, vice president, and finally president, Joe Biden's life has included victory, disappointment, and personal tragedy. The roots of his ultimate success lie in his early years and his unwillingness to give up. Biden's story, both public and private, is intriguing and often exemplary. His election victory ended one of the most divisive presidencies and presidential elections in US history. It also coincided with a deadly pandemic and global economic catastrophe. Biden, known for his ability to work with people of different political persuasions and as someone who has experienced personal tragedy, will preside over a fractured and exhausted nation.

Kamala Harris: History-Making US Vice President ©21

by James Roland

Kamala Harris became vice president in January 2021. The election victory she shared with Joe Biden marks several history-making firsts. Among them: Harris is the first woman and the first woman of colour to be elected as vice president. During a career that included six years as California attorney general and three years as a US senator from that state Harris developed a reputation for intelligence, toughness, and a sense of humour—all of which will be tested as she and Biden preside over a fractured and exhausted nation.

Natural Satellites: The Book of Moons ©21

by Ron Miller

In our solar system, there are hundreds of objects trapped in orbit around the planets. These moons feature some of the most extreme and fascinating environments—from Enceladus's organic compound-rich jets to Titan's methane lakes and thick atmosphere. Some of these environments may even be conducive to life. Author Ron Miller, who is also a NASA illustrator, delves into the science behind these underexplored objects and makes the case for why moons should be the first place we look for alien life.

Running on Empty ©21

by Connie Goldsmith

Nearly half of young adults fail to get the recommended eight to ten hours of sleep a night they need, and nearly a third have fallen asleep in school due to insufficient sleep. Lack of quality sleep impacts stress levels, academic performance, and physical and mental health, and in severe cases, it can even lead to death. Readers will learn how to get more and better sleep, as well as why sleep is vital to their well-being. Running on Empty takes a much-needed scientific and informative approach to the topic of sleep, making it the first such book aimed at teens. With rates of insomnia and other sleep disorders such as sleep apnea on the rise, this book is timely, informative, and aimed at one of the populations most affected by poor sleep that help these creatures-and their odd bods-survive and thrive all around the globe!

"This worthwhile book offers both a wake-up call and a practical guide for teens who need sleep."—Booklist

Understanding Gender Identity ©22

by Don Nardo

Gender identity is one's personal conception of gender. It is closely related to the various roles that males and females typically play in society. This thought-provoking book shows how and why some people have come to question or explore their gender identity and how this can sometimes lead to controversy.

Understanding Infectious Diseases

Today more than ever it is essential for young people to understand the science and psychology behind infectious diseases. Books in this series explore this topic from different angles including the science of vaccines, how preventive measures protect public health, and how medical professionals track the causes and spread of infectious diseases.

Understanding the COVID-19 Pandemic

In the blink of an eye, the world as we know it has changed. Friends and loved ones have died lonely, painful deaths. Once-robust economies have disintegrated, costing millions their jobs. Schools, forced to close their doors, have resorted to distance learning. Social interaction has been replaced with social distancing. The new series Understanding the COVID-19 Pandemic examines the origins of the virus that causes the disease; how different countries responded; how the virus spreads, sickens, and kills; the challenges of the new normal; the race to develop vaccines; and the inspiring stories of ordinary people performing extraordinary acts in a time of crisis.

Vaccine Wars: When Science and Politics Collide ©22

by John Allen

Vaccines have been one of the most important public health breakthroughs of the last century. Yet despite their ability to save lives, vaccines have become the objects of fear-mongering and fake science. From the groundbreaking polio vaccine to the COVID-19 vaccines produced in record time, Vaccine Wars: When Science and Politics Collide examines why these remarkably successful drugs remain so controversial.

IN-PERSON & VIRTUAL DISPLAYS!

RETURNING 2021 DISPLAYS & EVENTS!

Saunders organizes book display events throughout Canada for schools and libraries. Visit www.saundersbook.ca/displays to see where and when our next events are happening.

COVID-19

Many displays are returning in 2021-2022. We are dedicated to ensuring the safety of our staff and customers at displays, and so we will be following all COVID-19 protocols set by the local public health unit.
